

You have a certain skill set and qualifications to guide a group through specific experiences. You take them through the thoughts, feelings, or actions related to those experiences. You help the group draw out their own understanding of their camp experience and the ways to use this knowledge when they return home. Your presence as a specialized facilitator provides an environment where campers learn and grow and always feel safe; physically and emotionally.

- encourage camper development through their own processing and readiness, and recognize their achievements
- use respectful, positive behaviour management techniques
- model healthy choices and emotional maturity
- identify, assess and appropriately manage risks and off-site crises in line with THCF's risk management standards
- provide mentorship, knowledge and skill transfer to other staff
- be challenged physically and emotionally as you live in an overnight camp for 10 day sessions, with 2 days of break in between
- learn that the challenge is also rewarding, and will experience personal growth alongside the campers you are supporting
